

ANNEX I Part 1

Details of Product Classification

Category I products

Category I products are products that have potential to be absorbed through the skin mucous membrane. These products include: -

- products for application in the area around the eyes (except eye brow products)
- lip products
- oral cavity products
- hair dyes containing phenylenediamine, toluenediamine, their salts and derivatives
- sun tanning products containing topical dyes or tan accelerators, applied over a large area of the body and remain in contact with the skin solely for the purpose of browning the skin

Category II products

Category II products are products other than the ones listed in Category I. They include:

Hair dyes not containing phenylenediamine, toluenediamine, their salts and derivatives

Sun tanning products not containing topical dyes or tan accelerators.

Products for application on the hair, scalp, skin, without rinsing including but not exclusive to: -

Deodorants
Skin lotion/ creams
Shaving preparations
Oils
Cheek colours
Foundations
Eyebrow colours
Nail preparations
Depilatories
Hair preparations
Face packs
Face/ body masks
Bar soaps
Perfumes
Talcum powders

Products, which remain in traces after rinsing or use including but not exclusive, to: -

Bath oils, salts and other bath preparations
Hair shampoo, conditioner, treatment
Shaving foam
Body/ face cleanser

Other products not listed here